 - (ix) What does Jagan say about Kalidas ?
 - (x) Why does Jagan not pay the sales tax ?

Section–B

Part–I

Note :– Attempt any two references to the context questions out of three. Answer should not exceed 200 words.

2. (a) In a sense, democracy is at its best when it is kept simple and straight forward. The vote is only an affirmation and the people being sovereign in a democratic framework. The challenge in one sense has been to return in more meaningful ways to having a system of governance ‘of, by and for the people’ in a practical manner. Public action has come out of these basic and cherished ideals.

- (b) Chandu, however, had conceived a new notion this time, newer than those he had ever thought of before. Having seen the shop of Naringan Das, the barber of the town, he had applied his brain to the scheme of opening a shop on the wayside at the head of the bazaar, in partnership with his cousin, the barber of Verka, and with Dhunoo and the other barbers within a range of seven miles from his village.
- (c) He had never imagined the power, the riches, the inventive genius of this Western World. Being of a stronger vitality and more sensitive to the appeal of force than a Tagore or a Gandhi who were oppressed by the frenzy of movement and noise, by the whole European-American (especially American) mechanism, Vivekanand was at his ease in it at last at first; he succumbed to its exciting intoxication, and his first feeling was of juvenile acceptance; his admiration knew no bounds. For twelve days he filled his eager eyes with this new world.

Part-II

Note :- Attempt any three questions out of four. Answer should not exceed 200 words.
